

The incredibly gadget that translate different languages

¿Is it possible to understand languages through an earphone? Now it is!

Nowadays, the English language is very present in our lives. More and more people increasingly decide to study English because it has become the official language of communication in the whole world. Being able to speak it and dominate it is essential to get a good job and very important to travel to other places.

Although the English language in many aspects is said to be one of the easiest languages, a recently survey shows that Spain is the country with the worst level of English in the European Union. It is a fact that Spanish people have many complications when learning a foreign language as well as for understanding foreign people who visit our country every year... but, could we find the solution with a translator earphone?

This gadget called "Pilot" is developed by Waverly Labs Company. It is a wireless earphone that can translate a conversation in five languages (English, French, Spanish, Portuguese and Italian) with only two seconds of delay. It is on sale and costs 249 dollars. All of the English students need it!

Pilot is connected with the help of a mobile 'app', which gives the information and brings back the answer in his own language. The app, called 'Pilot Speech Translator', is available for Android and iOS and it has already obtained many good reviews.

But, will this new invention be a problem changing the traditional method to learn English? Are there many languages academies in danger?
